American & Foreign Patents.
R H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of the U S Patent Office Washington, (under the Act of 1837)
76 State Street, opposite Kilby Street,
BOSTON

AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years continues to secure Patents in the United States, also, in Great Britain, France, and other foreign countries Caveats, Specifications Bonds Assignments and all Papers or Drawings for Patents executed on liberal terms, and with dispatch Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of Patents or Inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar Assignments recorded at Washington

The Agency is not only the largest in New England but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents of ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to any which can be offered them elsewhere The testimonials below given prove that none is more successful at the Patent Office than the subscriber and as success is the best proof of advantages and ability he would add that he has abundant reason to believe and can prove that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents

These besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able beyond question to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse" CHARLES MASON Commissioner of Patents

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents

"Mr R. H EDDY has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges" JOHN TAGGART

During eight months, the subscriber in course of his large practice made on twice rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor by the Commissioner of Patents R. H EDDY

In Peace or War, on land or sea,
Our flag, the ægis of the free,
Bright emblem of Columbia's glory!
Shall tell to coming years the story,
How, stout of heart, and strong of hand,
The patriots of our native land
Bore it, the nation's hope and life,
On tented field, 'mid fearful strife,
Still on! 'till through the sulphurous cloud
It broke in triumph, Treason's shroud!

The Re-organization of the Militia.

The Military Committee of our Legislature has been for some time in daily session, we believe, receiving suggestions from military men and others in regard to the best plan of organizing the State Militia; and they will soon be prepared, we hope, to frame and report a bill. Whatever may be done under the volunteer system, either for offence or defence, there is no question that the State requires an organization of the militia by which all or any portion of her able bodied citizens may be called out at once in case of an emergency. If a war with England occurs, Maine would be in danger of instant invasion, and we should, for a time at least be obliged to rely on our own right arms for defence. No one doubts the expediency of a new and comprehensive militia system. There are difficulties in deciding precisely as to the character and extent of the training and discipline which shall be required of the chosen soldiers. Some are in favor of merely providing for the enrolment, of the great body of the people, and requiring no service or drill, except by an active corps of three or four thousand men similar to the present Volunteer Militia, who shall be paid for the expenses incurred by them. Others are in favor of a more extensive discipline of the troops. The Augusta Age, supposes that the old militia law of 1821 will be revived "with such additional features as a condition of actual hostilities may suggest." Under that law, the whole body of the militia were required to turn out for inspection drill, and review twice or three times in the year. That law also required every man to arm and equip himself—rations for the day, and ammunition when used being provided by the State. We should be glad to have these features revived if it were practicable. If every man owned his gun and equipments, an armed force to any required amount could be put in the field at a days notice; but such a requirement would now bear hard upon the people, even if a sufficient number of muskets could be readily obtained. The only alternative seems to be for the State to procure a large supply of arms, say 25,000 or 30,000 stand, and to drill such portion of the militia each year as may be deemed advisable. One-third or one quarter of all those enrolled, might be designated by draft for drill and discipline each year—to be succeeded by another third or quarter the next year, and to bear their own expenses. Two or three days time and the cost of their food is not a great requirement. Every loyal citizen would cheerfully render that amount of gratuitous service in order to sustain an efficient militia whereby to defend their own homes in time of hostile invasion. Under such a provision the annual cost to the State would be small, and the system would have a degree of vitality which could not be attained by any mere enrollment without drill or discipline. But the committee undoubtedly has various plans under consideration, and will select that which shall appear best in view of both efficiency and economy of expenditure.

The Army Telegraph. The army telegraph now consists of over one thousand miles of wire stretched through the different camps, from the headquarters of General Hooker on the left, running toward the right wing till it reaches Hancock, Md. One hundred and ten operators are now in the employ of the government.

General McClellan can sit at the table in his private house, and talk to the different Generals, all at one and the same time, and independent of one another. When any division moves, the line can also be extended, as each division has a corps of builders, and a supply of wire, poles, and insulators always ready. In several divisions, each brigadier general has an instrument upon his [illegible], and is in direct conference with his immediate Commanding General the whole time.

The intelligence of the Government is to the effect that [illegible]

The feeling in England, at the date of last advices, seems to be one of general confidence in the continuance of peace, provided the United States government should release Mason and Slidell. And a belief that they had been released caused an immediate rise in consols to 92½, which was exactly the point where they stood previous to the Trent affair. Earl Russel in reply to the deputation which waited upon him on the 27th, on the subject of dispute between England and America, said he entirely sympathized with the sentiment in favor of peace, and felt the great calamity of a war between Great Britain and the United States. But, until the proposition they had sent out had received a reply, the deputation could not expect any distinct statement from him.

Mr. Caldwell, a member of the British Cabinet, in a speech at Oxford, trusted that the recent occurrences would not only pass over without leading to the great calamity of hostilities between two kindred nations, but that, by the explanations that follow, the danger of a state of war be so far removed and smoothed away that there may arise no other circumstance calculated to involve us in like danger for the future.

The London Times even been forced to take a similar tone, and has furthermore discovered the gratifying circumstance, "that the stock of cotton in the country is in value about £1,000,000 beyond the amount that had been estimated." It seems probable that the next arrival will bring accounts of a general jubilation in England over the escape from an American war, made certain by the confirmation of the release of the rebel commissioners.

The Burnside Expedition. The remaining part of the Burnside Expedition which has so long attracted public attention, having at length sailed and probably reached its destination, there is no longer any reason for withholding a detailed statement of its strength and capacity.—The total number of troops is about 16,000, composed of 15 regiments of infantry, one battallion of infantry and one battery of artillery. Its numerical strength does not exceed that of the expedition to Port Royal under General Sherman, but in appointment and equipments it is superior and much more effective—being adapted for rapid and effective inland operations.

The following are the names of the regiments and their officers:

First Brigade—5 Regiments—General John G. Foster. 23d Massachusetts Regiment, Col. John Kurtz; 24th do., Col. Thos. G Stevenson; 25th do., Col. Edward Upton; 27th do., Col Horace C. Lee; 10th Connecticut Regiment, Col. Charles L. Russell.

Second Brigade—5 regiments—General Jesse L. Reno. 9th New Jersey Regiment, Col. Jos W. Allen; 51st Pennsylvania do., Col. J. F. Hartranft; 21st Massachusetts do., Col. Augustus Morse; 5th New Hampshire do., Col. Nelson Converse; 51st New York do., Col. Edward Ferero.

Third Brigade—6 regiments—General John G. Parke. 8th Connecticut Regiment, Col. Edward Harland; 11th do., Col. J. H. C. Kingsbury; 4th Rhode Island do., Col. J. P. Rodman; 5th do. (Battalion), Major Job Wright; 53d New York Regiment, Col. L. J D'Epineuil; 89th do., Col. H. S. Fairchild.

The fleet consists of fifty-five vessels, ranging from ocean steamers of the largest size down to propellors and ferry boats, including about fifteen schooners, carrying horses and supplies.—Steamers 11, propellers (gunboats) 9, ships 4, barks 4, brigs 1, schooners, 21, barges 5.

How Certain Seceshers were Caught in their own trap.

We find the following amusing incident in a private letter from a gentleman connected with Gen. Jameson's brigade—

"Our Division, or rather Brigade, took 18 prisoners yesterday, down at Pohic Church.—They were taken by Col. Hays, of the 63d Pennsylvania Volunteers, an active and efficient officer. The 63d were out on picket duty, and the attention of the sergeant of the guard being drawn to the tinkling of a cow bell in the bushes, with visions of new milk running through his head, he examined carefully and to his intense astonishment, he found himself euchered of his milk, and no cows there, but he made the discovery that as he advanced, said cow bell retreated. The sergeant smelt a moderate sized mice, and made a double quick retrograde movement without investigating further. He immediately reported the fact to Colonel Hays. The Colonel secreted a squad of men in the woods, and the sergeant again made himself conspicuous. Soon the gentle tinkle of a cow bell was again heard. The Sergeant kept threshing in the bushes, and the bell gently tinkled, approaching all the while. Soon the squad in ambush had the satisfaction to observe the cautious approach, not of a cow, but of a veritable secesher with a cow bell around his neck, and a six shooter stuck in his belt. He came slowly on until within easy range of our men. The sergeant then hailed him, and asked him where he had rather go "to — or to Washington." "To Washington, I reckon," drawled the secesher, "I aint clothed for warm weather," and he came up, without looking to the right or left, and delivered himself up. He would have been looked upon as quite a hero by our men if the revengeful secesher had not voluntarily given information where the balance of his comrades were. That night Co. A, Pennsylvania 63d, went about six miles outside our pickets and took 17 prisoners and six horses. One of the seceshers requested the hostler to take good care of his horse, for he had had nothing to eat for two days.

☞ In regard to Gen. Cameron's resignation, the Washington Republican says that the President desires it to be understood that no circumstance connected with the recent change in the Cabinet has in any way impaired his confidence in General Cameron, or disturbed the harmony existing between him and the Administration. The name of Mr. Stanton was suggested to the President by Gen. Cameron himself, as largely possessing the qualifications fitting him for the post of Secretary of War, and enjoying the unreserved confidence of the commanding General. The names of Mr. Holt and Gen. Dix had been [illegible]

Michael H. Bowes v. Michael Corley. Writ of entry for a lot of land in Orono, sold defendant by N. Wilson.

Mace, J. E. Godfrey. N Wilson.

The case reported yesterday "Cyrus Work v. Isaac March", should have been "Isaac March co."

Admitted to the Bar. In the Supreme Court on Monday, on motion of A. Sanborn, Esq., John Varney of this city was admitted to practice in all the Courts of this State.

Stereoptican Exhibition. Our readers will doubtless enjoy an interesting and entertaining exhibition if they go to see the photographic dissolving views of the war, to be exhibited at Norombega Hall this (Thursday) evening. The employment of photographic pictures and the brilliant calcium light have made exhibitions of this character a new thing, and very different from the magic lantern exhibitions of years ago.

Cure of Cross Eye. Dr. S. Laughton of this city, assisted by Dr. Stevens, lately performed an operation upon the eye of Mr. Geo. S. Walker of this city, for "Strabismus," or Cross Eye, with good success. The defect, which was of nearly fifty years standing, has been remedied, and the sight improved.

Heavy Contract. Messrs. Wm Deering and Woodman, True & Co. of Portland, have made a contract with the U. S. Government to furnish 35,000 garments, consisting of infantry coats and blouses. This is the largest contract yet made with any party in this State.

☞ In the list of 150 released prisoners arrived at Fortress Monroe on Saturday, we find the names of J. W. Folger, John Coy, R. A. Monroe, G. H. Barton and H. A. Holden of the 2d Maine; and H. A. Colligan, E. Maddocks, F. Shaw and Dennis Cannon of the 4th Maine.

☞ A gentleman in Rockland has invented an apparatus designed to cope with armed ships, and drive them from the coast. The Democrat thinks it may yet prove of vast importance in naval warfare.

Fire in Gardiner. The shingle and clapboard mill, belonging to Messrs Townsend & Gray, near the factory in Gardiner, was consumed by fire on Saturday evening last, between 11 and 12 o'clock. Loss about $2000.

☞ In Calais, a few days ago, an unoccupied dwelling house belonging to Joseph Granger, one belonging to Hiram A. Brooks, and a workshop owned by Nelson Nash, were destroyed by fire, and the roof of the engine house was burnt off.

☞ In the Board of Agriculture on Friday last, Mr. Perley presented an account of experiments showing the cost of producing veal. In one case the cost exceeded the proceeds by 96 cents, and in another 50 cents. Other experiments in agriculture were submitted.

On Saturday Mr. Jewett gave the result of a partial experiment to get land into a state to produce grass without the aid of manure.

The proposition broached in the Legislature, to dispense with the printing of the agricultural report, &c., was discussed.

Root culture was then taken up, and discussed.

☞ A telegraphic despatch received at Eastport, 14th inst., states that brig Alice Maude, from Eastport for Portland, was ashore near the entrance of Bass Harbor. The brig is new, and was on her first voyage. She was partially insured.

☞ About 30,000 hogsheads of molasses have been used in the Portland Sugar house the past year, producing 50,000 barrels of sugar, and 15,000 hogsheads of syrup. One hundred and fifty workmen are employed in the various departments including coopers, carpenters, truckmen, warehousemen, &c., and the monthly pay roll is about $4,000.

☞ The ladies of the First Baptist Society, sent last month to the care of Dr. McRuer a box of articles for the soldiers, containing 45 pairs stockings, 27 pairs mittens, 8 comforters, 4 quilts, 6 blankets, 1 dozen handkerchiefs, together with drawers, night shirts, pillow cases, &c. The following letter of acknowledgment was received from Dr. McRuer:

Head Q'rs, Sedgwick's (8) Brigade,
Near Alexandria, Va., Jan. 8, 1862.

Dear Madame:—The box and contents which you have kindly sent to my charge, for distribution among the soldiers, has come to hand; and I can only assure you that I will endeavor to fulfil your benevolent intentions in regard to them, in the most judicious manner.

Present my kind regards to the ladies in the "Society of the First Baptist Church"

Most respectfully and gratefully,
Your ob't serv't,
D. McRuer.

To Mrs. Arad Thompson, Sec'y.

Affray at Augusta. The Portland Courier has an account of an affray which occured at Augusta on Saturday evening, in which the Adjutant and Quartermaster of the 14th regiment were attacked by a squad of soldiers belonging to the 15th. Several shots were fired by the Adjutant, one of which, it is thought, took effect; and one of the assailants attempted to use a knife on him, but was prevented by the Quartermaster. It is not stated whether either of the officers were hurt.

☞ George H. Webster of Glenburn, of Co. I, 2d Me. Regiment, died at Hall's Hill, Va., on Monday morning last.

The Knickerbocker for February is one of the most readable of that racy old magazine—Among the articles is the second chapter of "Sunshine in Thought," by Charles G. Leland, embracing the strange and beautiful old German legend of "Tannhauser"; "A Chapter on Dogs," with some delightful stories of household favorites; "Revelations of Wall Street," continued; "The Battle Ground of Tippecanoe."—The Editor's table is well served with mirth provoking sketches and spicy anecdotes. The Knickerbocker is published by J. R. Gilmore, 582 Broadway, New York.

Gov. Curtin of Pennsylvania, his State having already furnished her full quota of troops, asks permission to send eight full regiments of infantry and one of cavalry, now ready in that State, on an expedition to the Southern coast.—Bravo for the old Keystone State.

A Startling Statement. The Chicago Tribune publishes the following paragraph editorially:

We have before us three cartridges brought to us from Annapolis by a friend. They are a portion of the ammunition for Enfield rifles served out to Burnside's forces for the great expedition. To the eye they are like in appearance, and the slight difference in weight could not instantly be detected. But the difference is that one of the three contains not a particle of powder. A prominent officer of the expedition told our informant that this was about the proportion throughout the entire lot of Enfield cartridges, one third of them carefully put up without powder. Now here is a case for investigation. Was it fraud, or treachery, that seeks to palm off upon our brave troops, on the eve of an expedition, sham cartridges? Let us have an explanation of this affair, Secretary Stanton.

One of the most astonishing things in connection with the parrot, a green Amazon, happened at a dinner party recently. One of the guests was a gentleman who stammered very much, and it was observed that whenever the latter spoke the parrot was particularly attentive. After dinner the stammering gentleman sauntered up to the parrot's cage, and said, "Well, P-p-p polly, whats o'clock?" Upon which the parrot immediately replied, "P p-p-past four!" imitating the stammerer so perfectly that its possessor could not help laughing as heartily as the rest. Opposite the parrot's residence there were some buildings in course of erection, and the men at the top of the scaffold were in the habit of calling to those below for such materials as they wanted, "More bricks," "More mortar," and so on. In a very short time Poll had these terms by heart, as well as the gruff tones in which they were uttered. No sooner did the laborer (an Irishman) relieve himself of a load, than the everlasting cry, "More mortar," assailed his ears. He bore it with exemplary patience till the mortar-board on the top of the scaffold was piled up; but again the order for "Mortar, more mortar!" was given, and then the Irishman flung down his hod, and, making a speaking trumpet of his hands, bawled to the bricklayer above, "Thre an' ounds, is it mor-t-ar ye'd that ye are? Sure a man can't have as many legs as a centre pig (centipede) to wait on the likes of ye's!"

The Adopted Larks. A gentleman in England relates that he found a nest full of young meadow larks, the mother bird having been killed by a stroke of the scythe while on her nest. It happened, that a robin who made her nest near this dwelling, had just commenced sitting. He took the young larks, and watching his opportunity when the robin was away removed the eggs, and putting the birds in their place, remained near to watch the result. The robin soon returned, and was just about to hop in, when she discovered the birds. She looked at them first with one eye, then with the other, turning her head in the most comical manner. In a few moments she flew swiftly away, but almost immediately returned with the male robin, who manifested as much surprise as his mate had done. They chirped and chattered together at a great rate, earnestly discussing this unexpected state of affairs, and then suddenly darted away. The gentleman supposed they had decided to desert the little foundlings, but presently they both came back with food in their bills, and from that time reared them as tenderly as though they had been their own.

Honesty.—A Quaker, in passing through a market, stopped at a stall, and inquired the price of citrons.

"I have none," said the honest countryman, "that will suit you; they are decayed, and their flavor is gone."

"Thank thee, friend; I will go to the next stand."

"Hast thou good fruit to-day?" said he to the dealer.

"Yes, sir, here are some of the finest nutmegs of my garden. They are small, but rich of their kind."

"Then thou canst commend them?"

"Certainly, sir."

"Very well, I will take two."

He carried them home, and they proved not only unsound, but miserably tasteless.

The next morning he again repaired to the same place. The man who sold him the fruit the previous day asked him if he would like some more.

"Nay, friend, thou hast deceived me once, and now, although thou mayest speak the truth still I cannot trust thee; but thy neighbor chose to deal uprightly with me, and from henceforth I shall be his patron. Thou wouldst do well to remember this, and learn by experience that a lie is a base thing in the beginning, and a very unprofitable one in the end."

Power of a Horse's Scent. There is one perception that a horse possesses, that but little attention has been paid to, and that is the power of scent. With some horses it is acute as with a dog; and for the benefit of those that have to drive nights, such as physicians and others, this knowledge is invaluable. I have never known it to fail, and I have rode hundreds of miles dark nights; and in considering of this power of scent, this is my simple advice; never check your horse at nights, but give him a free head, and you may rest assured that he will never get off the road, and will carry you expeditiously and safe. In regard to the power of scent in the horse, I once knew one of a pair that was stolen, and recovered mainly by the track being traced out by his mate, and that after he had been absent six or eight hours.

Gen. Lane's Programme. If Washington rumors could be believed, Gen. Jim Lane has received a carte blanche for his campaign in the West; but that is not probable. The latest version of his plan of operations is furnished by the correspondent of the New York Post, viz:

"General McClellan asked him, at an interview the other day, 'Suppose you find no Union sentiment whatever where you go?' 'Then,' replied Lane, 'I'll take good care to leave no rebel sentiment behind me. If Missouri, Arkansas, and the Indian country will not come peaceably under the laws of the government, my plan is to make of them a wilderness. I would give the traitors twenty four hours to choose between exile and death. Sir, if I can't do better, I will kill off the white traitors, and give their lands to the loyal black men.' The friends of [illegible] McClellan laughed heartily and said, 'You must work out your own plans. Go your way, and [illegible]'"

A Union Spy in Savannah. A correspondent of the Manchester American, from the 3d New Hampshire regiment at Hilton Head, Port Royal, S. C., says:

By the way, it is pretty well known here, that a certain captain from Manchester, in this regiment, has been sent out as a spy, and has been all through Savannah and ascertained everything in regard to the situation of the rebels in that quarter that he wished, and returned in safety. Said captain is an excellent officer, and knows nothing of the article called fear, and although young in years, is as brave as the oldest veteran upon the tented field. Further information deponent hath not liberty to divulge.

A Progressive Secretary. Colonel Forney says of the new Secretary of War:

"I do not anticipate that Mr. Stanton will be hasty in anything; but I believe he will be progressive. In fact, he has always been progressive. While a politician he was a progressive, and as a lawyer he has been, original, bold and determined. A great jurist said of him, after hearing his speech on a celebrated occasion, he never addresses the jury in a great case, but appeals to the judge, and makes the law as he goes on. Rest assured he will make some new points in the management of the campaign, and may startle some of the old proprietors who were so horrified because General Cameron refused to recommend that the war should be conducted on the rosewater plan, and that the liberated slaves should be clothed and fed, and not permitted to fight against their old oppressors."

The Late Engagement at Pensacola. By the gunboat Rhode Island, just arrived from the Gulf, the Philadelphia Inquirer has the following account of the late battle between Fort Pickens and the rebels at Pensacola:

On the morning of the 1st instant a small rebel steamer was observed from Fort Pickens, making her way towards the Navy Yard. As she approached, Fort Pickens opened fire upon her when she retreated at double quick. The fire from Fort Pickens was immediately answered from all the rebel batteries, and the engagement became general. The firing was kept up during the day, and at night Fort Pickens maintained a slow fire from the 15 inch mortars, which was hotly returned by the rebels.

About 11 p. m. a fire broke out in the Navy Yard, which continued throughout the night, and from the extent of the conflagration, it is supposed that the greater part of the buildings in the Navy Yard have been destroyed, and also the largest part, if not all, the town of Woolsey, which is adjoining the Navy Yard on the South.

The firing on both sides was remarkable for its extreme accuracy. Shells in countless numbers fell inside of Fort Pickens, and it is wonderful that no loss was sustained.

All our batteries were engaged, and did their work admirably. Fort McRea, which had been so roughly handled during the last engagement, appeared to have resumed its accustomed vigor, for it kept a constant fire throughout the engagement. Several of the squadron were present, but took no part in the fight.

Dissolving Stereoptican

THOUSANDS OF PEOPLE HAVE PRONOUNCED the wonder of the age. The Oxy Hydro-Calcium Dissolving Stereoptican is a new and powerful apparatus—the best which science has yet created—reproducing photographic pictures with stereoscopic effect upon an extensive scale, magnifying 30,000 times, and capable of giving a picture 30 feet in diameter, clearly and intensely lighted, with an accuracy and marvelousness almost magical, surpassing anything hitherto exhibited in America.

This entertainment has received the unqualified approval of scientific men, and as an entertaining and refining medium, is without an equal. Ralph Waldo Emerson after witnessing an exhibition, remarked that it was the culmination of the Daguerrean art—Daguerre himself ought to have been alive to have seen it.

The Herald's Washington despatch says that the employees of the Washington Navy Yard have declined joining in the strike

Captain Mott of Mott's battery, attached to Gen Smith's division, in defiance of the rain, darkness and mud, started out last evening on a reconnoissance to Fairfax Court House, accompanied by Colonel Lord and a detachment of dragoons He returned a little after daylight this morning. They scouted first about Hunter's Mills and around Peacock and Freedom Hills—they then pushed for Fairfax Court House, where they found a body of cavalry pickets Captain Mott threw up a signal light and gave the command to fire This bold demonstration frightened the pickets, who, returning the fire, spurred their horses and sped away Our men did not pursue None were hit Captain Mott ascertained the fact that the rebel picket lines have been removed considerably inside from where they were a short time ago

The following is a copy of a General Order in respect to the battle at Mill Springs.

"War Department Jan. 22

The President, Commander in Chief of the Army and Navy, has received information of a brilliant victory achieved by the United States forces, over a large body of armed traitors and rebels at Mill Springs in the State of Kentucky He returns thanks to the gallant officers and soldiers who won that victory, and when the official reports shall be received, the military skill and personal valor displayed in battle, will be acknowledged and rewarded in a fitting manner The courage that encountered and vanquished the greatly superior numbers of the rebel force, pursued and attacked them in their entrenchments and paused not until the enemy was completely routed, merits and receives commendation

The purpose of this war is to pursue and destroy a rebellious enemy, and to deliver the country from danger menaced by traitors Alacrity, daring, courageous spirit and patriotic zeal on all occasions, and under all circumstances are expected from the army of the United States In the prompt and spirited movements and daring at the battle of Mill Springs, the nation will realize its hopes, and the people of the United States will rejoice to honor every soldier and officer who proves his courage by charging with the bayonet, and storming intrenchments, or in the blaze of the enemy's fire

By order of the President,
Edwin M Stanton,
Secretary of War

The House Committee on the Judiciary commenced today their investigations in the telegraph censorship Several witnesses were before them

The following was received at headquarters tonight

Louisville, 22d

To Major General McClellan, Commanding United States Army

The following has just been received, signed by General Thomas

"The rout of the enemy was complete After succeeding in getting two pieces of artillery across the river, and upwards of fifty wagons, they were abandoned with all the ammunition in the depot at Mill Springs They then threw away their arms, and dispersed by byways through the mountains in the direction of Monticello, but are so completely demoralized that I don't believe they will make a stand short of Tennessee

The property captured on this side of the river is of great value amounting to eight six pounders and two Parrot guns with caissons filled with ammunition, about 100 four horse wagons and upwards of 1200 horses and mules, several boxes of arms which had never been opened, and from 500 to 1000 muskets, mostly with flint locks, but in good order, subsistence stores enough to serve the entire command for three days, also a large amount of hospital stores As soon as I receive the report of the brigade commander, I will furnish a detailed account of the battle

Our loss was 39 killed and 127 wounded Among the wounded were Colonel McCook of the 9th Ohio commanding a brigade, and his aid Lieut. Burt of the 18th United States Infantry

The loss of the rebels was Zollicoffer, and 114 others killed and buried, 116 wounded, and 45 prisoners not wounded, five of whom are surgeons and Lieut Col Carter of the 17th Tennessee regiment"

Brigadier General Commanding.

37th Congress—1st Session.

Washington, 20th

SENATE

Mr Sumner and others presented the usual batch of anti-slavery petitions

The resolution appropriating $10 000 for the expenses of the War Committee passed

Mr Trumbull reported back the House bill in regard to witnesses examined before committees of Congress, providing that their examination before committees shall not prevent their examination before a court of justice

Mr Harris objected to the bill

Mr Bayard moved to strike out that portion compelling witnesses to answer questions tending to make them infamous

Mr [illegible] that the object of the bill was to put witnesses on common law grounds The law as it now stands, enables the greatest criminals to escape if they can only get before an investigation committee, and tell something The clerk who stole two millions Indian bonds went off in this very way

Mr Wade opposed the amendment He did not see why we were so tender footed on account of rogues There were combinations to rob the government, and he did not dare to enter to o investigation before his committees, because the law as it stands, would exculpate great rascals

Mr Bayard withdrew his amendments

Mr Harris offered amendment, that the law is not to be so construed as to require any witness to testify to any fact that might tend to criminate him Lost—yeas 14, nays 21

The bill passed

Mr Wade reported a bill authorizing the President to take possession of certain railroad and telegraph lines

The case of Mr Bright was then taken up

Mr Davis favored expulsion, arguing that the Senate had a right to expel any member whose conduct unfitted him for duty, and any Senator who avows himself opposed to coercion, and who is not willing to give the government a single man or gun to subdue rebellion, was evidently unfitted for a Senator

Without coming to a conclusion, the Senate went into executive session

HOUSE

Mr Blair of Missouri reported a bill increasing the clerical force in the war and navy departments Passed

A resolution was passed that the President inform the House whether the act of Congress requiring officers of the additional regular regiments, appointed from civil life, to be assigned to the recruiting service, has been complied with, and if so, how many officers have thus been employed since the extra session of Congress

The bill authorizing naval officers to receive Japanese presents was passed

A bill was reported, providing for the payment of field officers of volunteer regiments for services prior to the full organization of their corps Postponed

A resolution was adopted requesting the Secretary of War to inform the House whether, and in what time, a sufficient military force can be extended over the line of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, in order that it may be repaired

Mr Spaulding, from the Committee on Ways and Means, reported a bill authorizing the issue of United States notes, and for the redemption and funding thereof, and for the funding of the floating debt of the United States. It was made a special order for Tuesday

The House went into committee of the whole on the executive judicial appropriation

Mr Diven of New York addressed the House on the war and its conduct. He defended the Executive against the opposition of those professing to be the President's friends. Gentlemen wishing to prosecute the war for abolition purposes must know that this cannot be done until the Southern army is annihilated. Those wishing to prosecute the war for the restoration of the Union know this end cannot be attained until the enemy's military strength is destroyed. First crush the rebellion, then decide deliberately and dispassionately what use shall be made of victory

Mr Stevens of Pennsylvania said the war cannot be ended so long as it is conducted on present principles There must be new mode of warfare adopted The domestic institutions of the South gave them advantage over the North in time of war. The slaves who are sloving the rebellion must be made our allies. Better [illegible] the whole South to waste than suffer the whole nation to be murdered. [illegible] Jackson [illegible] he would arm all the negroes, [illegible] at New Orleans, [illegible] [illegible] would hang the [illegible] such a campaign would end the rebellion He contended that the Constitution conferred all the power necessary

Mr Conkling of New York, offered an amendment that nothing in the bill be construed as in any manner impairing the right to reduce the compensation of any officer of the Government or abolish any existing office Adopted

The Committee rose and the House adjourned

Southern Items A Mobile paper announces the arrival there of 160 sacks coffee, 50 carboys acids, 20 casks potash, 20 do soda ash, 20 boxes shot, 15 barrels sulpher, 5 tons lead, quinine medicine, sweetmeats, liquors, cigars, &c

People on the North Carolina seacoast are busy manufacturing salt, and the Legislature has appropriated $100,000 to be used in bringing down the price of that indispensable commodity

They are building another nondescript vessel at New Orleans. The Bulletin complains that the rebel government has given no encouragement to the construction of such vessels as the iron ram Manassas. As the Manassas has not dared to venture down the Mississippi since her first attempt, they probably can't see the advantage of building any more of such useless contrivances

The Houston Telegraph says a steamer recently arrived at a Texan port under British colors, bringing 45 tons cannon powder, a large amount of rifle powder, 700 000 army caps, 5,000 cannon primers, and a considerable amount of coffee, dry goods, bagging rope, etc

The Charleston Courier says that six Lincoln vessels were off the harbor on the 14th, the blockade having become more vigilant since the Ella Warley eluded the cruisers and got into port

THE NEWYORK TRIBUNE.

LARGE PREMIUMS
TO OUR FRIENDS

Hitherto we have never offered any one a premium for helping to extend the circulation of The Tribune We have printed the cheapest newspaper considering the quality in which it is produced that was ever issued in any country selling it for little more than the cost of the white paper, have employed no agent to canvass for subscribers and have allowed no compensation (beyond a copy of our paper) to any of the thousands of generous friends who have annually taken care that the number of copies in our several localities circulated in their respective vicinities should be at least maintained and if possible increased We have been paying even verbal thanks to the friends but have none the less realized the fullness of our obligation for their earnest unselfish painstaking personal effort

We propose for the present season only—in view of the hardness of the times and the fact that we are enabled to buy white paper somewhat cheaper than we have hitherto done and hope to do after the close of the War—to make some small acknowledgment—not so much a recompense as a slight testimonial—to friends who shall see fit to exert themselves to obtain subscriptions whether original or renewals to our Weekly and Semi Weekly editions We do not know that we can offer anything of similar value more acceptable and useful than [illegible] the best quality and finish We propose therefore to forward to each person who, during the two months ensuing shall send us subscriptions and money for THE TRIBUNE, as follows

BOOTS AND SHOES

MADE ON

PLUMER'S PATENT ANATOMICAL LASTS!

[From J. V. C. Smith, M. D., formerly Mayor of Boston.]

PLUMER'S PATENT BOOTS.

The Undersigned has worn a pair of these IMPROVED BOOTS, and feels grateful to the Inventor for the comfort derived from them. The nice adjustment of the sole to every part of the under surface of the foot, is an important circumstance which seems to have been entirely overlooked till Dr. Plumer planned his Last and Boot upon truly scientific principles.

Those who have once had an opportunity to test the real advantages of these Philosophically made Boots, will hardly be reconciled to wear any other.

J. V. C. SMITH.

BOSTON, July 27, 1861.

J. C. PLUMER, M. D.

Dear Sir: I am greatly delighted with your newly invented boots which I have worn during the past winter, and only wonder that the world should have been so stupid as not to have made the discovery half a century ago. Any one with a grain of common sense and a moment's reflection, cannot fail to see that your "PATENT BOOTS AND SHOES" are perfectly adapted to the foot (that wonderful piece of Nature's Mechanism,) giving to every portion of it a full and equal support; and I am sure that those who once make trial of your new invention will never go back to the old fashioned boots or shoes, which are so prolific of Corns, Bunions, and a thousand other troubles. Your "Patent Boots" seems to be part and parcel of our Physical structure, supporting the foot fully, giving steadiness to the gait, and promoting human comfort to an eminent degree, especially in walking over rough surfaces.

I wish I knew, of some means by which I could make known to every man, woman and child in Christendom, the nature and importance of your invention. Very truly yours,

[illegible] M. D.
[illegible] Summer Street

MILAND, July 12, 1860.

DR. PLUMER—

Dear Sir: Having learned the principle upon which your "Anatomical Last" is [illegible], I was favorably impressed as to its efficiency in relieving a difficulty which all have experienced, who have to walk considerably, viz: severe pain in the feet after much walking. After having worn the boots made upon the "Anatomical Last" I found my anticipations more than realized. I can walk nearly all day without experiencing the above named difficulty in the least degree. I also escaped the torturing process of breaking in my boots, for they were as easy at first as after they had been worn.

Truly Yours, C. H. BURBANK, M. D.

DR. SWEET'S

Infallible Liniment!

Great External Remedy

For Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Lumbago, Stiff Neck and Joints, Sprains, Bruises, Cuts and Wounds, Piles, Headache, and all Rheumatic and Nervous Disorders.

FOR all of which it is a speedy and certain remedy, and never fails. This Liniment is prepared from the recipe of Dr. Stephen Sweet, of Connecticut, the famous bone setter, and has been used in his practice for more than twenty years with the most astonishing success.

AS AN ALLEVIATOR OF PAIN it is unrivalled by any preparation before the public, of which the most skeptical may be convinced by a single trial.

This Liniment will cure rapidly and radically, RHEUMATIC DISORDERS of every kind, and in thousands of cases where it has been used, it has never been known to fail.

For NEURALGIA, it will afford immediate relief in every case, however distressing.

It will relieve the worst cases of HEADACHE in three minutes, and is warranted to do it.

TOOTHACHE also will it cure instantly.

For NERVOUS DEBILITY and GENERAL LASSITUDE arising from imprudence or excess, this Liniment is a most happy and unfailing remedy.—Acting directly upon the nervous tissues, it strengthens and revivifies the system, and restores it to elasticity and vigor.

FOR PILES.—As an external remedy, we claim that it is the best known and we challenge the world to produce an equal. Every victim of this distressing complaint should give it a trial, for it will not fail to afford immediate relief, and in a majority of cases will effect a radical cure.

QUINSY AND SORE THROAT are sometimes extremely malignant and dangerous, but a timely application of this Liniment will never fail to cure.

SPRAINS are sometimes very obstinate, and enlargement of the joints is liable to occur if neglected. The worst case may be conquered by this Liniment in two or three days.

BRUISES, CUTS, WOUNDS, SORES, ULCERS, BURNS AND SCALDS, yield readily to the wonderful healing properties of DR. SWEET'S INFALLIBLE LINIMENT, when used according to directions. Also, CHILBLAINS, FROSTED FEET and INSECT BITES AND STINGS.

Every Horse Owner

should have this remedy at hand, for its timely use at the first appearance of Lameness will effectually prevent those formidable diseases, to which all horses are liable, and which render so many otherwise valuable horses nearly worthless.

Over four hundred voluntary testimonials to the wonderful curative powers of this Liniment have been received within the last two years, and many of them from persons in the highest ranks of life.

CAUTION.

To avoid imposition, observe the signature and likeness of Dr. Stephen Sweet, on every label, and also "Stephen Sweet's Infallible Liniment" blown in the glass of each bottle, without which none are genuine.

PROF. WOOD'S

RESTORATIVE CORDIAL

AND

BLOOD RENOVATOR.

Is [illegible] what its name indicates, for while pleasant to the taste, it is revivifying, exhilarating, and strengthening to the vital powers.—It also revivifies, reinstates and renews the blood in all its original purity, and thus restores and renders the system invulnerable to attacks of disease. It is the only preparation ever offered to the world in a popular form so as to be within the reach of all. So chemically and skillfully combined as to be the most powerful tonic, and yet so perfectly adapted as to act in perfect accordance with the laws of nature, and hence soothe the weakest stomach and tone up the digestive organs, and allay all nervous and other irritation. It is also perfectly exhilarating in its effects, and yet it is never followed by lassitude or depression of spirits. It is composed entirely of vegetables, and those thoroughly combining powerful tonic and soothing properties, and consequently can never injure. Such a remedy has long been felt to be a desideratum in the medical world, both by the thoroughly skilled in medical science and also by all who have suffered from debility; for it needs no medical skill or knowledge even to see that debility follows all attacks of disease, and lays the unguarded system open to the attacks of many of the most dangerous diseases to which poor humanity is constantly liable. Such, for example, as the following: Consumption, Bronchitis, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, loss of appetite, faintness, nervous irritability, neuralgia, palpitation of the heart, melancholy, hypochondria, night sweats, languor, giddiness, and all that class of cases so fearfully fatal if unattended to in time, called female weaknesses and irregularities. Also, liver derangements or torpidity, and liver complaints, diseases of the kidneys, scalding or incontinence of the urine, or any general derangement of the urinary organs, pain in the back, side, and between the shoulders, predisposition to slight colds, hacking and continued cough, emaciation, difficulty of breathing, and indeed we might enumerate many more still, but we have space only to say it will not only cure the debility following chills and fever, but prevent all attacks arising from Miasmatic influences, and cure the diseases at once, if already attacked. And as it acts directly and persistently upon the biliary system, arousing the liver to action, promoting, in fact all the excretions and secretions of the system, it will infallibly prevent any deleterious consequences following upon a change of climate and water, hence all travelers should have a bottle with them, and all should take a table spoonful at least before eating. As it prevents costiveness, strengthens the digestive organs, it should be in the hands of all persons of sedentary habits—students, ministers, literary men. And all ladies not accustomed to much out-door exercise should always use it. If they will, they will find an agreeable, pleasant, and efficient remedy against those ills which rob them of their beauty; for beauty cannot exist without health, and health cannot exist while the above irregularities continue. Then again the cordial is a perfect mother's relief. Taken a month or two before the final trial, she will pass the dreadful period with perfect ease and safety. There is no mistake about it, this cordial is all we claim for it. Mothers, try it! And to you we appeal to detect the illness or decline not only of your daughters before it be too late, but also your sons and husbands, for while the former, from false delicacy, often goes down to a premature grave rather than let their condition be known in time, the latter are often so mixed up with the excitement of business that if it were not for you they too would travel in the same downward path, until too late to arrest their fatal fall. But the mother is always vigilant, and to you we confidently appeal; for we are sure your never failing affection will unerringly point you to Prof. Wood's Restorative Cordial and Blood Renovator as the remedy which should be always on hand in time of need. MR W. A. BELL.

Dear Sir:—I have used HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE, and am satisfied, from an experience to all other preparations for the like purpose, that it is the only article ever before the public worth purchasing.

Yours truly, JOHN G. DALY.

PADUCAH, KY., July 27, 1860.

MESSRS W. E. HAGAN & Co., Troy, N. Y.

Gents:—Above please find statement of Mr. John G. Daly, a merchant of our city, in regard to HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE. This testimony is given after having used most of the preparations now before the public claiming to be Hair Restoratives, and must be considered conclusive as to the merits of the Inimitable. Am out of the large size. Forward by Railroad double the quantity we had before.

Very truly yours, W. A. BELL.

IT WILL RESTORE THE NATURAL COLOR OF THE HAIR,

where age or sickness has turned it grey, and it will render it soft and glossy.

"ANYBODY"

who may try it, will find that it does not color the skin, but by stimulating the natural secretions at the roots, gives new life and strength to the Hair, and thus restores its color and freshness. It can be used as freely as water upon the scalp, and with as much safety. It is composed of oil and stimulating spirits, and as an article for the toilet, has no equal.

MESSRS W. E. HAGAN & Co.

I hereby certify that my Hair having become gray and my head partially bald, I bought from Henry Reynolds, Druggist, one four bit bottle of HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE. By its use my Hair was restored to its original color and thickness, it removed all dandruff, arrested its falling and gave it a rich, glossy appearance; its effects were entirely different from any Hair Preparation I ever used before. I know of several ladies and gentlemen, my intimate friends, who all speak of the "Inimitable" as being the best and cheapest Hair Preparation in our market. I can fully recommend it, and will refer any one to Henry Reynolds, Druggist, for the truth of my statements. WILLIAM BOSBYSHALL.

Messrs. W. E. HAGAN & Co., Troy, N. I have never used a hair preparation that I liked so well. It has completely restored every hair that was grey to the color it was in girlhood, and has brought it out thick and healthy. I was induced to use the article by Mr. Reynolds, your Agent here. If this letter will be of service, you may publish it.

THAT HAS

Stood the Test of Years,

And grows more and more popular every day!

AND testimonials, new, and almost without number, might be given from ladies and gentlemen in all grades of society, whose united testimony none could resist, that Prof. Wood's Hair Restorative will restore the bald and gray, and preserve the hair of the youth to old age, in all its youthful beauty.

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Dec. 21, 1858.

Prof. Wood: Thee wilt please accept a line to inform thee that the hair on my head all fell off over twenty years ago, caused by a complicated chronic disease, attended with an eruption on the head. A continual course of suffering through life having reduced me to a state of dependence, I have not been able to obtain stuff for caps, neither have I been able to do them up, in consequence of which my head has suffered extremely from cold. This induced me to pay Briggs & Hodges almost the last cent I had on earth for a two dollar bottle of thy Hair Restorative about the first of August last. I have faithfully followed the directions, and the bald spot is now covered with hair thick and black, though short. It is also coming in all over my head. Feeling confident that another large bottle would restore it entirely and permanently, I feel anxious to persevere in its use, and being destitute of means to purchase any more, I would ask thee if thee wouldst not be willing to send me an order on thine agents for a bottle, and receive to thyself the scripture declaration—"the reward is to those that are kind to the widow and the fatherless."

Thy friend, SUSANNAH KIRBY.

LIGONIER, Noble Co., Indiana, Feb. 5, 1859.

Prof. O. J. Wood:—Dear Sir: In the latter part of the year 1852, while attending the State and National Law School of the State of New York, my hair from a cause unknown to me, commenced falling off very rapidly, so that in the short space of 6 months the whole upper part of my scalp was almost entirely bereft of its covering, and much of the remaining portion upon the side and back part of my head shortly after became gray, so that you will not be surprised when I tell you that upon my return to the State of Indiana my more casual acquaintances were not so much at a loss to discover the cause of the change in my appearance, as my more intimate acquaintances were to recognize me at all.

I at once made application to the most skillful physicians in the country, but, receiving no assurance from them that my hair could again be restored, I was forced to become reconciled to my fate, until, fortunately, in the latter part of the year 1857, your Restorative was recommended to me by a druggist, as being the most reliable Hair Restorative in use. I tried one bottle, and found to my great satisfaction that it was producing the desired effect. Since that time I have used seven dollars' worth of your Restorative, and as a result have a rich coat of very soft black hair, which no money can buy.

As a mark of my gratitude for your labor and skill in the production of so wonderful an article I have recommended its use to many of my friends and acquaintances, who, I am happy to inform you are using it with like effect.

Very respectfully yours, A. M. LATTA,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law.

The Restorative is put up in bottles of three sizes, viz: large, medium, and small. The small holds ½ a pint and retails for one dollar per bottle; the medium holds at least twenty per cent. more in proportion than the small, retails for two dollars per bottle; the large holds a quart, 40 per cent. more in proportion, and retails for three dollars per bottle.

SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN;

Best Mechanical Paper in the World.

SEVENTEENTH YEAR.

VOLUME VI—NEW SERIES

A NEW VOLUME of this widely circulated paper commences on the first of January. It is published WEEKLY, and every number contains sixteen pages of useful information, and from five to ten original engravings of new inventions and discoveries, all of which are prepared expressly for its columns.

To the Mechanic and Manufacturer.

No person engaged in any of the mechanical or manufacturing pursuits should think of "doing without" the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN. It costs but four cents per week; every number contains from six to ten engravings of new machines and inventions, which cannot be found in any other publication. It is an established rule of the publishers to insert none but original engravings, and those of the first class in the art, drawn and engraved by experienced persons under their own supervision.

To the Inventor.

The SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN is indispensable to every inventor, as it not only contains illustrated descriptions of nearly all the best inventions as they come out, but each number contains an official list of the claims of all the Patents issued from the United States Patent Office during the week previous; thus giving a correct history of the progress of inventions in this country. We are also receiving, every week, the best scientific journals of Great Britain, France, and Germany; thus placing in our possession all that is transpiring in mechanical science and art in these old countries. We shall continue to transfer to our columns copious extracts from these journals of whatever we may deem of interest to our readers.

Chemists, Architects, Millwrights and Farmers.

The SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN will be found a most useful journal to them. All the new discoveries in the science of chemistry are given in its columns, and the interests of the architect and carpenter are not overlooked; all the new inventions and discoveries appertaining to these pursuits being published from week to week. Useful and practical information pertaining to the interests of millwrights and mill-owners will be found published in the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN, which information they cannot possibly obtain from any other source. Subjects in which planters and farmers are interested will be found discussed in the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN; most of the improvements in agricultural implements being illustrated in its columns.

TERMS.

To mail subscribers:—Two Dollars a Year, or One Dollar for six months. The two volumes comprise one complete volume of [illegible] pages of reading matter in one year. The volumes commence on the first of January and July. Specimen copies will be sent gratis to any part of the country. [illegible] pamphlet of instruction to inventors [illegible] patents sent free.
